Attendee profile

The Conference attracts delegates from across 35 countries from all over Africa and beyond. This year, we are hosting 1000 delegates from prestigious institutions and youth organisations, graduate and undergraduates, all leaders and influencers in their respective countries and institutions.

Event purpose

IYDC started because we believe that there were too many important issues surrounding Africa, as a whole, which were being overlooked. We decided that the best way to solve this problem is to create a platform, whereby, potential young leaders from across Africa and beyond, can meet to discuss pertinent issues of global interest. This event is a simulation of the United Nations General Assembly, Security Council and other agencies under the United Nations. Since then, it has helped many young African achieve their dreams of global leadership. According to KENNETH DIOLE, one of our alumni from SOUTH AFRICA

"The role of an organization such as IFEDGLOBAL has never been more pertinent than now. It is an organization that engages and train young people with pertinent diplomatic tools to be able to engage on substantive youth matters. Its role as an advocacy and lobby group is growing, and shows that young people must form part and parcel of critical policy engagement."

We have come a long way, but we still need your support. Your generous contribution will help us extend our mission to empower and develop potential young leaders by:

- reducing the overall participation fee, enabling more attendees to participate at the conference
- Assisting us to bring a vast range of regional participants to the International Youth Diplomacy Conference, especially those from deprived communities.
